

AGED DARKEY SEEKS PENSION

Lewis Whitehurst Who Was Captured by the Yankees and Forced to Fight for the Union, Lives in Dothan.

In a negro quarter of this city lives old Lewis Whitehurst, and as the days go by he smokes his pipe and awaits the coming of a pension, which he hopes to receive for his services in the Union army in the war between the States.

So rapid has been the growth of Dothan in the past 25 years that Lewis has lived in his little hut, minding his own business, like the ante-bellum darkey, that he has been almost forgotten, except by the faithful friends he has made. Dothan has developed and Lewis has looked on with a life, for he was a citizen of this town prior to the construction of the first railroad here.

As the curtain goes up for the first act of this little story, the scene is laid in Richmond, Va., where Lewis was born a slave. He lived there until eight years old but was sold and brought to Henry county. He lived near the old Judson church, a land mark above Abbeville.

Slave Is Stolen.

When the war started between the States, Lewis was still a slave, working on the plantation near Abbeville. His young master, "Marce" Tom Whitehurst, enlisted in the Confederate army under Capt. W. C. Oates. Tom needed a cook, so without the consent of his father, he carried Lewis along in the capacity of chief chef.

Off to the war went "Marce" Tom, and his faithful servant, Lewis. Both were captured at Lynchburg, Va., and carried to St. Louis, Mo. Tom was exchanged with some more prisoners, but Lewis had no such good luck. The negro was kept at St. Louis a year, and compelled to enlist in the Union army under Capt. Grabbiehall, who was under General W. T. Sherman.

Lewis was moved from post to post, and made several trips up and down the Hudson river. He was with Sherman on his famous march to the sea, and was wounded at Chienmanga, he being shot off his horse.

Still true to the Southland, Lewis returned to this section after the war, and moved to Dothan before the coming of the first lo-

INSURANCE IS DIVIDED

The city's insurance on the High School building and the new city hall was equally divided among the five local insurance agents, at a meeting of the City Council last night.

The total amounts to about $55.00 each of the following five agents being allowed to handle $11,000 of the insurance: Ed Wise, E. C. Porter, A. E. Garner, N. F. Cheairs, R. L. Gaines.

MRS. BOYKIN NOT DEAD.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McLeroy, have returned from near Eufaula, where they visited Mr. McLeroy's mother, Mrs. J. W. Boykin, who was reported dead. This information received in Dothan was incorrect, as Mrs. Boykin is recovering.

IN CIRCUIT COURT.

In Circuit Court yesterday Charlie Davis, Wyatt Murphy, and Mulem Murphy, were fined $5.00 each on charges of assault and battery; Charlie Davis, abusive language, $5.00, and Cliff Ward, charged with grand larceny, was sentenced to 12 months.

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Women should understand that melancholy, commonly called the "blues," is in nine times out of ten a pure symptom of some organic derangement which should have attention. For nearly forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for such conditions, as proved by many testimonials which we are constantly publishing from women who have been restored to health by its use.

comulative. He saw the first railroad built to Dothan.

For the last act of this episode the scene is laid in Dothan, time: the present. Lewis is now 76 years old. He has a heavy frame, and is a very black negro, and has grey hair. He hopes that his lawyer will soon notify him that he will receive a pension.

Lewis Whitehurst represents a type of the negro race, which is fast disappearing—the old time, humble, plantation darkey, brought up in slavery and in later years freed, yet in this freedom maintaining respect for the white race, which has made the ante-bellum darkey famous in song and story of the Southland.

FARMERS PLAN ORGANIZATION

Plans looking towards permanent organization of a market association were formulated at a meeting held at the court house yesterday. A. J. Carroll, president. A number of highly instructive speeches were made.

A committee composed of C. F. Cassidy, Walter Brinks, J. A. Culbreth, and J. O. Godwin, was appointed to work out the plans for organization, with N. T. Cobb, as secretary. Various sections of the county were represented at the meeting.

OFFSET THE BOLL WEEVIL WITH OTHER CROPS NOW

Alabama's great woman farmer Mrs. G. H. Mathis, State President of the Diversified Farming Association, has just completed a tour of certain of the Central Alabama counties which are overrun with the boll weevil. In view of the number of requests she has received for suggestions as to steps to offset the evil results of the boll weevil, she has written the following letter to the farmers of Alabama.

Fellow Farmers:

I regret to find that the boll weevil is devastating the cotton crop in Central Alabama. Among the things that can be done at this time to offset the evil effects of this loss is to plant other crops that will yield some return during the fall and winter. It is not too late to plant hay. Sorghum and pea vines make a good and nutritious hay. Popcorn and peas or giant soy bean vines make a fine forage crop for stock or hogs to harvest in the field, and will feed a number of head until near Christmas.

Cow peas should be planted on the land from which grain has been harvested to insure fertility and produce a hay crop. All corn that will mature within 100 days can be planted now and up to the middle of July.

The late fall growing Irish potatoes can be planted from now until the middle of August. The Peach Blow potato is probably the best of the fall varieties. Lookout Mountain is also another good late potato. All this class of potatoes are suitable in the winter and keep perfectly. There is a demand for the small potatoes in the northern cities in January at quite a good price. They should be dug by the first of November and sorted; that is the large ones and the small ones should be separated as they are to be sold in different markets, the large ones in nearby markets and the small ones in northern cities.

Keeping Potatoes.

The fall grown potatoes can be kept without housing. Dig trenches about 18 inches deep and pile the potatoes down in the trenches. Put a little straw over the top of the potatoes and then throw the dirt over them. That should make a top covering five or six inches deep, which is quite sufficient in this climate to preserve the potatoes. In an exceedingly cold spell it is sometimes worth while to throw pine straw or some other thing over the trenches.

J. W. ROBERTS REPORTS FINE BUICK SEASON

Six Cars and One Truck Sold Yesterday.—60 Inch Treads Ready July First.

Mr. J. M. West, Buick representative for the southern half of Alabama, went over the territory with Mr. J. W. Roberts of Headland and sold six Buick cars yesterday. Mr. Roberts has the agency for the Buick car in Houston, Dale and Henry counties, Alabama, and Jackson and Walden counties in Florida.

Dr. Moody's new car, one of the new Buick 4's, is a handsome little roadster and has created a great deal of favorable comment, locally.

Mr. Roberts has been handling Buick cars for seven years. He is the oldest salesman in the service and the youngest salesman in point of years. The new 1916 will be seen about July 1st and his announcement in this issue should be read by all who may be interested in automobiles.

WILLING WORKERS CIRCLE 5

Circle 5 of the Willing Workers Society met Monday afternoon with Mrs. J. V. Carleton. The subject for the afternoon was Faith. Devotional exercises led by Mrs. W. A. Brown.

Hymn, Jesus is Calling. Roll Call, responded to by quotations on Faith.

Mission Wheel, read by Mrs. J. P. Brown.

Solo, Sometime, Somewhere.

Miss Ilay Cotton. Reading, Mrs. C. E. Harmon. Hymn, I Need Thee Every Hour.

The Circle was delighted to have Mrs. Cotton and Miss Stapleton with us. Although this is the last circle organized, the members are all enthusiastic and much good work is predicted for this circle.

J. W. Conner, a prominent farmer on route 5, was in town this morning.

The winter rains do not hurt the potatoes, and they are ready for the market at any time. There is a good market for the small potatoes in January and a big demand for the large ones as seed potatoes in June and July. The potatoes that are kept for seed should be taken from the trench in April or May and allowed to dry out in the shade so that they will sprout for planting time.

For Fall Gardens.

If at any place in the garden there are tall weeds that shade the ground during July and early August broadcast mustard seed among the weeds and make small hills and plant squash seed. The weeds will serve as a protection against the heating sun and can be cut down in early September, leaving the vegetables to grow. Collards and winter cabbage seed should be sown now in a shaded place and the plants drawn off and set out in September.

AUTO PARTY STOPS HERE

A large party of autoists from Columbus, Ga., making a Tri-State Tour, arrived in Dothan late yesterday afternoon, and stopped in this city about fifteen minutes. IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water acids and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

57 Dynamite Sticks and Fuse Also Found Under Armory in Walkerville, Canada.
Germans Suspected.

Detroit, Mich. June 21.—Twenty-seven sticks of dynamite, attached to a time fuse that had been set for 3:15 a. m., were found under the rear of the Windsor armory, across the river in Canada, this morning.

The discovery was made at 6:15, three hours after a violent explosion had shaken the manufacturing plant of Peabody Company, limited, in Walkerville, shattering every glass in the office and causing damage estimated at from $5000 to $10,000. The bomb under the Peabody plant went off at 3:07 a. m.

The time cap attached to the bomb under the Windsor armory had exploded, blowing off the top of the grip in which it was concealed. The main charge, however, had failed to explode. To this fact several men stationed in the armory at night probably owe their lives. The obvious connection between the explosion in the Peabody plant and the attempt to wreck the armory immediately stimulated suspicion of a wholesale plot of destruction. Windsor and Walkerville authorities ordered a thorough investigation of all public buildings and of every industry suspected in any way with the manufacture of war materials. No other bombs were found. One arrest has been made.

It was 3:15 a. m. when Private Panton, on guard at the armory heard what he believed to be a pistol shot a short distance away. With other guards he made a hurried investigation but found nothing. Later he discovered the grip, 60 feet from where he had been standing when he heard the report. The bag had been concealed beneath the wall, muffling the sound.

Horace B. Peabody, of Grand Point, head of the Peabody company, said no threats had been made to blow up his plant, although the company has been devoting most of its time in the last few months to the manufacture of uniforms for the British soldiers. Mr. Peabody expressed the belief that the bomb had been placed by "German sympathizers" from across the river.

Excitement runs high in Windsor, and guards on the main connecting that city with Detroit have been doubled.

Good and Bad in the Movies.

Savannah News.

Until there is the right sort of censorship of moving pictures there will be constant assertions that they are an influence for evil, and there are good intentioned folks who will condemn them all sweepingly, without admitting that they have their good features. Nobody ought to sweepingly condemn the movies.

They are not inherently wrong.

On the contrary, they are the source of much good. There are all sorts of ways in which they can be used for the improvement of the world, for the instruction and the very wholesome entertainment of everybody, from tots to graybeards, and on the other hand they can be used for evil instruction of and suggestion to children and grown folks.

To eliminate the evil and retain the good is not an easy task, for it often happens that objectionable pictures have greater drawing power than good ones, and since it is money that film makers are after it is not surprising that some films that should never be produced get before the public. And then too there is radical difference of opinion, even among folks with active conscience, about what is good and what is not good. There was radical difference of opinion as to whether the public in general should be permitted to see the famous play "Damaged Goods."

Some good folks said everybody of discretionary years should see it, and other good folks said that it was too terrible a story to be heard except by persons of very mature years, and some doubted that it was wise to produce it at all.

At a conference on corrections

at Baltimore the other day, Chas.

J. Koch, assistant superintendent of the schools of that city, said moving pictures were responsible in some cases for dangerous ideas in childish minds, and there is no doubt that he was right. The moving picture can create a deeper impression upon a child's mind than any printed story, simply because it can tell the child infinitely more details than the most graphic story ever written.

Nobody can describe a theft, with every glance of the thief, the play of emotions on his face, every movement he makes in opening the window and the money drawer and in escaping, in such a complete and striking way as the moving picture can show it.

All of which shows how important it is to have some censorship of the movies and how equally important to select the right persons to be censors. If censorship merely means the creation of new soft jobs to be filled by friends of this or that politician, friends whose qualifications consist of the need of a good job and the desire for it and the ability to pay for it in votes on election day, they had better be left uncensored. Such censors would not know what should and what should not be shown and they would be likely to let a bad picture slip through provided the producer or exhibitor was a friend of their political friend or was willing to hand them a little gratuity for the favor.

The man who held a state office during the past four years, and didn't pick up a little extra money, must have been an awfully honest, plain sort of a citizen. So far as the committee has gone, it would seem that when a fellow had an office up at the capitol, he took liberties with the state's funds that no individual corporation would have stood Brevity.

"Then delivered he him therefore unto them to be crucified.

And they took Jesus, and led him away. And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place of a skull, which is called in the Hebrew Golgotha: where they crucified him, and two others with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst.

"And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the cross. And the writing was, JESUS OF NAZA-RETH THE KING OF THE

JEWES.

"This title then read many of the Jews; for the place where Jesus was crucified was high to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek and Latin."

The Bible is a great teacher of brevity of speech. In this day with all its slang and superfluous words in speaking and writing we all might get a valuable lesson in brevity by a study of the Book of books. The Bible was not written by fools for it says that a fool is known by multitude of words.

Here is the greatest tragedy in the world's history being enacted and the story is told in 112 words. A world long stepped in this tragedy of the cross. Man left himself had been a failure; he was lost and all hope had gone out of the world. Yet this story of man's redemption and the birth of his hopes is told in fewer words than the housewife of today would use in ordering her day's supply of groceries over the telephone.

A modern newspaper reporter could not have told the story with less than three pages of his newspaper, and had it happened yesterday the country would be overrun with book agents today offering a prospectus in 14 volumes. Verily "brevity is the soul of wit," therefore let us be brief.

One of the clerks who records were being looked into up at the Capitol this spring, fit of anger, pointed his finger at an inquiring citizen, and said:

"You fellows are ruin' the devils now, but you wait, you just wait; four years from now O'Neil will be back in office and he will kick every one of you out." It would appear that the few officials who kept their accounts as they should have been kept are not faring badly at the hands of the probe committee.

Governor Slaton knew what the sentiment of the people of Georgia was in the Frank case or he wouldn't have had him slipped away to prevent his being lynched.

He has made a sorry mess of carrying out the mandate of the courts backed by an overwhelming public sentiment in his state.

Purely for information we would like to know how much money was spent in repairs for the Capitol, as compared for money spent to maintain the Governor's mansion during Governor

O'Neil's administration. We have an idea that the capitol is being kept up about as cheaply as the mansion, and it's a much more imposing structure.

John H. Jr. sees where a real live Democratic newspaper is needed in this state. John always was a far-seeing gentleman. Why he actually looked into the future and saw that the state would pay for all those telegrams

he sent out in an effort to hang him to the gallows.

Sir Edward Grey has traveled tastes, almost unknown in society, much more devoted to fishing than to politics; speaks little, and then in the plainest and most unadorned fashion; is indifferent to the cur-

CLOSE GAME YESTERDAY

The Bay Line Giants and Hodgeville played an interesting game at Baker Field yesterday, the umpire calling the game in the first part of the tenth and awarded Dothan the game by the score of 9 to 0. Each team had made 11 runs, and the first man up for Hodgeville in the last half of the ninth was batting out of order. He hit to center field for three bases, and scored on a wild throw to third. The scorer called the proper man to the bat, but for some reason McCallister went to the bat instead of the one called by the scorer. The umpire called McCallister out, and six strikes were put across by the Bay Line pitcher. When Hodgeville declined to take the field, the umpire declared the game forfeited. Lawson and Essery pitched for the Giants and Mixon for Hodgeville.

The devil probably doesn't believe in business success, for he invented whiskey, which is mighty hard on business.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Use it like a cold cream and dry Eczema eruptions right up.

The moment you apply bold-sulphur to an itching or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a renowned dermatologist.

This remarkable sulphur made into a thick cream effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of skin eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties and its power in relieving itching and inflammation of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance, it immediately subdues the itching irritation and breaks the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again manifests itself.

Any good druggist will supply an ounce of bold-sulphur, which should be applied to the affected parts like the ordinary cold cream. It has no unpleasant odor and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with severe itching.

CHARACTER—Personality. When you meet a man you instinctively catalog him—decide for yourself just what kind of a man he is and whether or not you're going to like him.

If he's wishy-washy, or overbearing, or bitter, or loud, or effeminate, or dull, or uninteresting, you're through, right there.

It is character that decides you. Beverages have character. Some can't outlast a single meeting.

Others are wishy-washy, effeminate and uninteresting. You forget them—quickly.

Others are overbearing—too decided in flavor or effect. You avoid them.

COCA-COLA has the character, the personality of a fine, wholesome, manly man. It meets the tastes of men and women on this common ground.

It is pleasing without being effeminate.

It is vigorous without overdoing it.

It bears repetition without losing the freshness of appeal that first charmed you.

You—be you man or woman—meet in this beverage those qualities that are admirably manly in a man.

Instantly you will decide that you like it for its character—its personality. Time will prove the soundness of your judgment.

For 29 years COCA-COLA has been put to the test. Daily for 29 years it has passed the lips of the American people—has borne the test of repetition without losing its zest.

For 29 years it has proved its wholesomeness—its vigor—its deliciousness—its character.

You can prove to yourself in one glassful what 29 years have built into its reputation.

The public wants Buick
Sixes—So many of them

Regardless of the car you buy or the price you pay, nowhere can you get greater value

More enduring than chrome vanadium steel, more wonderful than the finest workmanship, is the idea that can dominate an industry.

In this day when more Buicks are being built than ever before it is interesting to remember that the distinguishing characteristic of the Buick, the Valve-in-Head Motor, has existed as an idea for twenty-five years and been built into Buick cars for thirteen years.

From 1903 to 1907 the Buick Valve-in-Head was a two cylinder engine. From 1908 to 1914 four cylinders dominated the field and the Buick Valve-in-Head Four dominated other types. The Buick Valve-in-Head Six was first put on the market in 1913. Fours were also continued—but the Valve-in-Head Six had stirred the imagination of the car-buying public. The demand from the start outpaced the production.

This demand has become so overwhelming that now—for 1916—the Four 1916

SIXES
EXCLUSIVELY

gives way to Sixes. Two chassis, both Sixes, with roadster, touring car, coupe, sedan bodies. The Six has been made standard because in the Six the Valve-in-Head idea has its greatest opportunity for service.

Also since the first appearance of the Buick Six there has arisen an insistent demand for smaller Buick sixes.

The Six is a natural, logical, efficient form for the Valve-in-Head type. Never before has the Valve-in-Head idea had such adequate materialization.

This year the Buick factory is directed for Sixes exclusively. The production will be large. Demand necessitates a steady stream of Buick trains leaving the factory during the season.

And the Power, Economy, Dependability and Comfort of 1916 Buick justify this demand more than ever. Study the specifications and you'll see why.

THE FRANK DECISION

Thomasville (Ga.) Times-Enterprise.

The announcement this morning that the Governor of Georgia had commuted the death sentence of Leo M. Frank to one of life imprisonment, has doubtless caused widespread comment, the action of the Governor himself coming in for the major share of the comment before the reasons assigned by him were made public. Governor Slaton's significant statement was: "Feeling as I do about the case, I would be a murderer, if I allowed this man to hang. It may mean that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days, but I would rather be flowing in the fields than feel, for the rest of my life that I had committed a crime."

motives to the decision, and allowing him full credence for his opinion and the manhood of sticking up to it, we are forced to believe that the laws of Georgia have suffered a severe blow at the hands of this one man, the one judiciary and executive power in the whole realm of legalized authority, who has seen fit to make way for the possibility of pardon or escape for a man who was convicted of so horrible a crime.

From the Coroner's jury to the Supreme Court of the United States, through the jurisdiction of the Prison Commission of the State, the trial and the method of procedure have been vindicated. Frank received a fair and impartial trial, if there is any truth in the decisions of the highest tribunal known to this country. The exercise of executive clemency on the part of the Governor, while legal and just according to his opinion, demonstrates that he, as the highest official in the state, was not willing to uphold the decisions of all the courts to which it could possibly have been appealed. He gives a doubt of guilt as his reason for this act. It took nerve and courage to act as he did, under the circumstances.

The people of the State realize the great difficulty of Governor Slaton's position, but we venture the assertion that the great majority of them believed that he would allow the law to take its course, after so conclusive a showing of its fairness had been made. Be that as it may, the matter is settled for a time at least, and until there shall be other and more conclusive evidence in his favor, Leo M. Frank should, by all means, be held in the custody of the State as a prisoner.

Charles Foy, of Eufrasia, is here the guest of his sister, Mrs. S. O. Williams, on South Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Forrester announce the arrival of a little daughter, who has been named Alice.

Oscar Garner of Malvern was here yesterday on business.

USING SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary milled coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water, and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get milled coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.
